What One of Douglas' Friends Thinks of Him. In defining his position in his recent letter, nothing more or less was meant than that, if he could not conscientiously assume the leadership of the Democratic party, he would not follow it, but if it was necessary to do so, he would follow it as a humble individual in the ranks.

If the above extract from the Washington States in behalf of the Hon. Stephen A. Douglas does not place the Little Giant in a better position, we don't know what could awkwardly locate him. He is represented by his friend as being willing to be led where he would not lead; as designing, in a certain contingency, to follow where he would not advance. In other words, if the Charleston Convention should fix up a platform to suit him, he would like to stand upon it; if the leader of the party in 1857, but if the platform is erected which does not suit him, and upon which he could not stand, he is willing to follow any leader whom the platform does suit, and who can stand upon it.

Suppose that the organ of the French Government were to make a similar declaration with reference to the Emperor Napoleon in 1857, but if the platform is erected which does not suit him, and upon which he could not stand, he is willing to follow any leader whom the platform does suit, and who can stand upon it.

It seems to us that the States have placed Mr. Douglas in anything but an agreeable position. We would think that the Little Giant would prefer friends of an order of discretion very different from the States. He would rather have his organs say that he would not lead unless there were no other man who would follow him, than to be called the Little Giant. His course upon the question of admitting Kansas into the Union as a slave State showed that Senator Douglas was not bound hand and foot by party ties, and we are disposed to believe that he would not follow where he could not lead. He has the independence of a thinker, the nerve of a bull, and the ambition of a leader, but not the imbecility and cowardice of a doer.

Up to a certain point in the political career of Senator Douglas there was much that elicited our profoundest admiration. We denounced his course upon the Lecompton question—repeatedly the squatter sovereignty heresies he promulgated in his Illinois campaign, and we saw nothing to approve in his Presidential campaign of 1858. The only hope for Douglas, in our opinion, was, that he was not a man of a high and arduous career, but a man of a low and arduous career.

Source of the Free-Soil Strength.

The Louisville Journal in the habit of stating that certain leaders of the Abolition and Free-Republican parties at the present time, were once Democrats. The argument intended by these statements, is that the anti-slavery forces of the North have been recruited from the ranks of the Democratic party. The Nashville Banner has followed the Journal in these of these arguments, and the Union and American has made a statistical reply. We publish here a part of the response of the Union and American to the Banner, which will serve as our answer to all the argument the Journal has made on this subject, if indeed it has made any.

In 1840 Free-Soil received 7,000 votes. In 1844 Free-Soil received 22,000 votes. In 1848 Free-Soil received 107,000 votes. In 1852 Free-Soil received 1,841,812 votes. Let us look to the record a moment, and see where the increase in the Abolition vote came from.

In 1840 and 1844 the regular Abolition candidate received the first year 7,000 and the second about 62,000 votes. In 1848, the vote in the non-slaveholding States was—

For Taylor, (whig), 925,016 For Cass, (dem.), 812,595 For Van Buren, (abo.), 291,075

In 1852 the vote in these States was— For Scott, (whig), 1,029,751 For Pierce, (dem.), 1,156,412 For Hale, (abo.), 157,685

In 1856, the vote in the same States was— For Fremont, (abo.), 395,920 For Buchanan, (dem.), 1,274,750 For Fremont, (abo.), 1,849,613

This tells the exact story of the increase of the Abolition vote, and more than amply shows that the Abolition vote in 1856 was 1,158,935 greater than it was in 1852. An increase more than double in four years. The increase of the Abolition vote, that Fremont, having once been a Democrat, "drew his chief strength from the ranks of his party."

In 1852, Fremont received the free States— States, in 1852, received the same States— States, in 1852, received the same States—

PELVICARY Consumption being primarily and essentially due to a disordered nutrition, can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which renovates the nutritive powers. Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood, and arrests the disease safely and surely.

Baltimore, July 15, 1854. I was suffering with a severe Catarrhal Cough, accompanied by Night Sweats, Loss of Appetite, and great debility, which was daily increasing. In this state I commenced taking the Peruvian Syrup. In a few days, and before I had used the second bottle, my cough lessened, night sweats ceased, appetite was restored, and with strength and vigor beyond what I had enjoyed for ten years, being able to walk and enjoy each day without fatigue, while hitherto I could walk only a short distance. A NEW SKIRT THAT IS NO EQUAL.—J. M. Robinson & Co. have introduced a new article, the Woven Extension-Skeleton Skirt, with adjustable waist spring busile—made without a stitch or clasp of any kind. They will be found to obviate all objections to metallic fasteners, or sewed skirts, which are continually cutting the tapes or ripping, the hoops, by this new method, being woven in where the tapes are made. They will, no doubt, soon supersede all others, as they will prove to be the most durable skirt ever yet offered, and as low as any made of the best tempered waist spring steel.

Large quantities, their celebrated Double Extension Patent Bustle Skirt, for which there has been such great demand. J. D. CAREY & TALBOT.

of Treatment, without Medicine, of such disorders as Neuritis, Neuralgia, Migraine, Epilepsy, Premature Decay of the System, Impotence, Impediments to Marriage, etc.

fully and completely tested, and is the only one known to cure Neuritis perfectly and at the least expense, and thereby avoiding all the advertised nostrums of
